Careful restoration has transformed this ancient convent into an elegant rural residence which gives a warm welcome to people longing for a peaceful and comfortable place. Situated on the border between Umbria and Tuscany, this is an ideal base to stay and visit the most important historic towns of both regions. Quickly looking at human settlements in Umbro-Tuscany countryside, we certainly find a strong anthropomorphic landscape; you can see it particularly in upper corner of Umbria on the border with Tuscany and in the upper valley of the Tiber river. On the wide, morphologically variegated area, out of many historical centres of a certain importance (Città di Castello, Sansepolcro, Umbertide, Citerna, Pietralunga and Lisciano Niccone) The territory is also marked by historical settlements built on ancient routes. In fact we often find villages built around oratories or country house or spin towers. Not far from the main routes stand the farm houses, a very important rural artistic heritage, joined by many country lanes. The historical importance of these estates is esteemed in its environmental and panoramic aspects. In particular farm-house is testimonial to country life and even today the feast of threshing is held here. The name "Il Casale" comes from important historic events Passed on through the word and mouth or it refers to ancient worship Places or even it finds its etymological roots in the first civilisation. Il casale , certainly a most noteworthy farm house, stands on the plain north of Città di Castello. The oldest part of the building is the tall square tower with brick moulding. On the front facade is a double arched loggia which dates back to 15th century. Some suites can be joined giving the option of seven to eleven beds together.
